Former Crimson Player—Coach San-ford's Task One of Obstacles—The Piret Eleven That Played for Yale.

ro-day's football menu presents attractive dishes, several of which will contain a very spicy flavor. The most important game is that scheduled between Cornell and the Indians, to take place at Buffalo, Cornell expects to win, and on form should do so without a great deal of trouble, having a much better record against opponents than the red men. The latter have been defeated once this year and have been scored on more than ence, while Cornell has not been scored on. The Indian's stock has gone up, how-ever, since they defeated Haverford the other day, 29 to 0. Coached by a Cornell man they ought to be in a better position to cope with Cornell tactics than were the reverse the case. The game will be played on neutral either way on the score. A number of Har-vard men in this city who have not seen this year's team play expect to go to West Point to-day to see the Crimson battle with the Cadets. Daly, who has been in the hospital, may resume his place at quarter back for the soldiers to-day, which will assist the Cadets in keeping the Harvard score down. Har-vard generally plays excellent football at West Point, winning by respectable scores, but there is an impression that the Cadets are stronger this year than last. Yale's opponent to-day will be the Pennsylvania State College team, one of the smaller teams that has a habit of making it interesting for the big fellows. The State men made a ouchdown against Pennsylvania a short time go, being beaten 23 to 6. Princeton has will try to beat Pennsylvania's tally against the Providence men, which was 26 to 0. The Quakers will tackle the lively Bucknell team to-day. Both Bucknell and Pennsylvania State are reported to be in a crippled condition. At the Polo Grounds

Pennsylvania State are reported to be in a crippled condition. At the Polo Grounds the Columbia eleven will play its second home game, having for adversaries the Hamilton College team, which fell an easy victim to Cornell. Cornell plays Columbia later and the local game to-day will give the experts a chance to do some liguring.

"What Harvard is working to get this year is a line," said an old Harvard player yesterday. "I don't think the line just now is much good but haven't seen any football this year and know nothing officially. If they don't get a line Yale will lick them sure, for to-day the Yale line is two to one the better. I notice that Harvard is trying the tackle back formation. It is a good play when you have the men to make it with. Yale had the men last year and her men being a little better than the men opposite them did great execution with the tackle back play. Incidentally, there are Harvard men, who think the play did not originate at Yale, but that it was after the order of plays formerly used at Harvard. Harvard used to try back of the line formations more than now and was a pioneer in that line of attack. However, Yale men may regard the tackle back formation as a distinct play of their own. In any event Yale did a whole lot with it and that after Yale stuck to the old plin of nobody but backs behind the line longer than anybody. Do I regard that plan as a back number? Hardly that. I don't look for much complex football this season and think simple formations will be used a good deal."

De Witt, the husky young Princetonian, is showing great versatility as a player Football has not developed men with ability to play any position as baseball has, but De Witt comes as near doing it as anyhody. He has played guard, tackle and befok of the line. He puts more ginger into his play in the line than back of it and strikes the casual observer as being one of those blayers inclined to be too easy going for the best results, and who needs to have his dander up before doing his best work. Kicking is another qualification that adds to his versatility and he may not only punt but showed the other day that he could drop kick. Those shounders of his that enable him to be if the apolith hammer record breaking distances ought to make him an effective line smasher. In the football hall of fame are the names of some distinguished players who have been weight to says a football couch who did.

for repeated gains. Since then, bowever, he has been coached hard in the tricks of his new position, and to-day he contexted studbornly every yard that was made in his quarter. Fisher at centre also showed promising development. He charged harder and quicker than heretofore and snapped the ball in score form. In the first half the 'Varsity scored once, when Foulke stirted the scrub's right end for a clean run of sixty yards and a touchdown. They had again rushed the leather to the second eleven's twenty-yard mark when time was called. Then the field was cleared, and the big gates at the entrance were closed tight. The Tigers went into secret practice for the first time this season. The introduction of this feature at a date so early as this is semewhat unusual, but the coaches have been keeping is the background some new formations, the practicability of which they want to test.

To-morrow the team will face Brown in this promises to be the closest game that Princeton has played yet. The Tigers' line-up will be as follows: Left end, Davig left tackle, Pell; left guard, Dana; centre, Fisher: right guard, Bukkiewtoz: right tackle, Dewitt; right end, Henry; quarter back, Meler; left half back, Foulke; right half back, B. McClave; full back, McCord.

Philladeliphia, Oct. 18—In endeavoring to round out Pennsylvania's green team a number of cripples have been developed. The team is not in a very bad way, but most of the best men are suffering from one kind of injury or another. In order to give these men a chance to rest up and get into shape for the harder games yet to come Pennsylvania will have to play several substitutes against Bucknell te-morrow. Metager, who has been playing left end, will be substituted to-morrow by Croweher Metager has a severe bone bruise of the hip. Baird at left tackle has a sore shoulder and hand. Pikarkskie who has been alternating between the Varsity and scrub teams will probably play in his place. Beanett is in pretty good shape. If Baird is able to play Pikarkskie may take Jordan's place to-morrow at centre. Teas at right guard is in good playing condition, but Donaldson, one of the heaviest players on the team, cannot be relied upon to hold out through the game. There is nothing the matter with Gardiner. Howard will play to-morrow although he has a bad hand which causes him to fumble. Butter will receive a rest and Reynolds, one of the most natural players on the field, will be in the back field. Snook, besides having a broken nose, suffers from a sore side and his place will probably be taken by Dale. Davidson, the full back and the man most likely to be chosen captain, has bone bruises of the legs and a tender ankie. He will probably have a rest to-morrow and Keilar will play the position.

FAST MILE BY PRELATESS.

TWO-YEAR-OLD FILLY TROTS IN 9:15 1-2 AT LEXINGTON.

Though Not Extended, Rer Time Is Only a Second and a Haif Slower Than the World's Record for Filles of Her Age —Chain Shot Wins in Straight Heats. LEXINGTON, Oct. 18 -One of the most in-

Lexington, Oct. 18.—One of the most interesting day's sport of the entire Lexington meeting was furnished at the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association's track to-day. The feature was the performance of the two-year-old brown filly, Prelatess, in the Lexington Stake. She trotted a mile in 2:15½, which is very close to the world's two-year-old filly record of 2:14, held by Janie T. The performance is all the more remarkable from the fact that in the heat in which the time was made Prelatess was remarkable from the fact that in the heat in which the time was made Prelatess was practically without a competitor and had to race without the help of something to speed beside her. The first half mile was traversed at a heart-breaking clip, as the timers caught it in 195%, the second quarter being in 32%, a 200 clip. But the home journey was a tresome one and she finished under the whip. It had taken 33% seconds for the third quarter of the mile and 36% seconds to get home from the three-quarter pole. from the three-quarter pole.

The judges took a hand in the game as soon as the unfinished 2:18 trot was called, and for the opening heat of the day, which was as the unfinished 2:18 trot was called, and for the opening heat of the day, which was the fourth in the race, Ed Geers was substituted for Squires behind Col Cochran. From that time on there was nothing in the race but the Colonel. Una Belle managed to get the first heat, although to many it looked as if Col Cochran had nosed her out, and the next three heats were easily his. The 2:22 trot appeared to be a palpable case of laying up upon the part of Snow behind Red Princess. She finished 5, 4, 5, in the first three heats in a field of eight and then came on and won handly. She was an even-money favorite and the wise few stuck to her to the end. Henrietta won the first heat after a nose finish with David Harum, who was well played for a good thing. David got the next two heats and won so easily that the race seemed to be his without a struggle. The next time out Red Princess, after trotting disappointingly for several heats, came to life, and after that there was nothing which could head her.

In the fifth heat of the 2:18 trot Neighbor Girl fell on the far turn, throwing Driver Jolly heavily, but fortunately he escaped unhurt. The mare was taken from the wreck of a sulky very lame. The 2:10 trot was won by the favorite, Chain Shot, who had no trouble in disposing of the two that started against him. Toggles trotted well to the three-quarters in the first heat and was leading when he went to a bad break. Afterward he was never a factor and Janies could do little to make Chain Shot race. YESTERDAY'S RACING RESULTS

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Denman Thompson, a blocky ittide bay gelding, by Deceiver—Ramona, won the Worth Pail Special at Worth to-day in one of the grandest and most desperate of finishes. The race grew out of a wranging among the owners as to who possessed the best colt, and the management offered a purse of $1,500 in order to have the question decided. The distance was a mile and a sixteenth and the starters were St. Marcos, Argregor, Six Shooter and Denman Thompson. Each carried 113 pounds, except Thompson, who received the geiding allowance, making his weight 100. St. Marcos was the favorite at even money, with Argregor second choice at 11 to 5. Six Shooter was next in demand at sevens, while Denman Thompson was the outsider at 8 to 1. They were sent away to a good start. Thompson was first to show, but Blake took him back to last place and permitted St. Marcos to set the pace. Argregor attended the Hildreth colt closely until the head of the stretch, where Haise made his move with Thompson, who had trailed all the way, and at the eighth pole his mount was on even terms with the struggling leaders. A sixteenth of a mile from homs it looked to be any one's race, as Six Shooter was coming strongly also. Fifty yards from the wire, however, Denman Thompson stuck his head in from and with St. Marcos and Argregor fighting it out with him desperately, maintained his advantage to the end, and the three crossed the line heads apart. Argregor only got his fosse in front of St. Marcos in the last few strides, while Six Shooter finished a length away, coming the sea in front of St. Marcos, on the last few strides, while Six Shooter finished a length away. Coming Hise the wind. The balance of the racing was of the first class, although only two favorites took down purses. The seeaher was fine, the track in good condition, and a big crowd saw the races. TWO OPPORTUNITIES TO-DAY TO PLAY FOR THE LIMIT AND CA "Plunge for the limit! Bet straight!" Our THREE-HORSE-WIRE to-day will read on a horse that starts in the SECOND race, and on one that starts in the FIFTH. Another will be given for a heavy play in one of the other events, straight and place. The odds against our horse in the second race and ours in the fifth will not average more than three to one, but our experts who have timed the "work-outs" of every horse entered in both races say that their pick is ten pounds better than the next best, and unless the pair are left at the post they will come home "on the bit."

If you want to make your two "swell" bets of the season, to-day is your opportunity. Supply yourself with a copy of our wire, and back our two best for your limit. Also have a fair-sized wager down on the other. The odds against the other horse to be named in our "three-horse-wire" will be eight or ten to one, and he is just such a trick as JOYMAKER, 10 to 1, WON, which we gave to win Wednesday, and which won by a head.
